1. Elections of members to People's Front Committees were held in Belgrade towards the end of March 1952.
2. The chairman of the People's Front unit of one district in Belgrade, suggested to the members of his unit that the elections be held by oral vote. However, many members of this unit opposed the oral vote and suggested that the voting be conducted by secret ballot. The two proposals were then put to a "show-of-hands" vote. Those supporting the secret ballot won overwhelmingly.
3. The elections in this district were consequently held by secret ballot. This resulted in the election of many members to the People's Front Committee who were not on the Party's preferred list.
